Give the Gift of Life Insurance

You adore your grandchildren! You love spending time with them, making special projects, reading books, buying presents, snuggling, laughing, and creating beautiful memories. With the gift of life insurance, you can also provide a solid foundation for their secure financial future...a gift that could last a lifetime.

Why Life Insurance?

- Affordable premiums: the younger they are, the lower the premiums can be.
- A foundation for their financial security: purchasing life insurance while children are young can protect their insurability as they grow into adulthood.
- Cash value accumulation: life insurance can be an effective way to accumulate funds for the child's future. These funds can be borrowed to help pay for college, a first car, or a down payment for a first home.¹

Life insurance is a gift that a child can never outgrow. It's a legacy of love from you that provides a solid foundation for them ... today and into the future.
